You heard the clash of his tinware long before the tinker arrived. It was an exciting moment in pioneer country; but that was long ago, and nowadays, when a store goes to its customers, it does it another way. Instead of a rattle of pans, there is a rattle of pages. Instead of a covered wagon there are the resources of a mighty organization. ## BLAIRMORE GIRL PRAISED AT COAST

First of two recitals by Natalie Minunze, exceptionally gifted young mezzo-soprano, attracted a large enthusiastic audience to the John Goss Studio Theatre at Vancouver, Tuesday. Miss Minunze, of Blairmore, Alta., is a former pupil of John Goss and has been studying in Toronto for some time. She is endowed with an unusually fine voice but, better still, she has uncanny interpretative gifts and sings with intelligent understanding in Italian, German, French and English. Moreover, she reveals keen musicianship, remarkable poise, and good style. As for her voice, this will become more firmly established with further study. She is destined to go far in the recital field.

For her program Miss Minunze presented admirably chosen songs by Handel, Haydn, Beethoven, Schumann, a fine French group and effective numbers by Roger Quilter.

Following her recital in Vancouver on Tuesday of last week, Miss Minunze returned to her home in Blairmore and on Wednesday night gave her second recital to a receptive audience in the Columbus hall. She was assisted by Mr. Gordon Roper, Coleman, on the violin.

BLAIRMORE CITIZEN

Requiem mass will be celebrated Saturday at 10 a.m. in St. Joseph's church for Mrs. Frederick (Mury) Wright, 69, who died Thursday morning at her home, 411 20th Ave. N.E. Interment will follow in St. Mary's cemetery.

Born in Armagh, Ireland, Mrs. Wright came to Calgary 36 years ago. She was a member of St. Joseph's church and of the Catholic Women's League.

Surviving are her husband, Frederick, Calgary; a son, Frederick George, Blairmore; a daughter, Kathleen Mary, Calgary.

A representative gathering of women of Central United church, together with representatives of the Coleman Auxiliary met in the church Wednesday afternoon, April 9th, for the Easter Thankoffering meeting of the WMS. The vice-president, Mrs. S. Bannan, conducted the meeting which opened with a worship service led by Mrs. J. McKelvey. Mrs. L. Comfort presided at the organ and two much appreciated solos were sung by Mrs. McLeod.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. J. Borman, president of the WMS auxiliary, who brought a helpful and inspirational message gleaned largely from the Conference Branch meetings she had attended at Edmonton the previous week.

At the close of the meeting, tea was served in the Ladies parlor and a social half hour enjoyed.

As we go through life we learn that worrying never gets us anywhere. Here is the way one philosopher sizes it up: If you are in business you are either busy or not busy. If you are busy there is no need to worry. If you are not busy you will either get busy or you will go broke. If you get busy there is no need to worry. If you go broke either someone else will leave you a fortune or you will go to the workhouse. If someone leaves you a fortune there is no need to worry. If you go to the workhouse either you will live to a ripe old age or you will die. If you live to a ripe old age there is no need to worry. If you die you can't worry. So why worry?

Alphonse and Bruno Fabro have returned to Kimberley from a six-week holiday trip to California.

Inquiries have already been received from outside clubs regarding the date of the tournament, which is expected to be held on June 21st, 22nd, and 23rd. New members, who should contact the secretary or any officer of the club for information regarding rates.

Several reservations have been made by outside players intending to take part in the tournament. From all indications, the club is expecting the largest membership in many years. Mr. and Mrs. R. Large, of Fernie, BC, were in town on Wednesday and in the evening attended Mrs. Minunze's "Song Recital".

FEAR LITTLE GIRL FELL INTO CROWS' NEST RIVER

As we go to press we are not able to report any success for the younger search party which has been maintained the past two days looking for "Paddy", 18-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Crippen, who is believed to have fallen into the Crows' Nest River.

"Paddy" was last seen Thursday morning, playing in the back yard of the Crippen home, half way between Blairmore and Frank. Her three-year-old brother Ronnie, told volunteer searchers Paddy had "gone in there", pointing to the river which flows back of their home. She has been missing since about 11:30 a.m. Thursday.

The RCMP, who are supervising the search, have Smoky, a police dog from Taber, on the scene today. "The river as far as the lake in the slide is being constantly patrolled, but work of the searchers is made extremely difficult owing to high and muddy water.

Besides her brother, Ronnie, there is an older sister and a younger baby in the Crippen family. Mr. Crippen is a veteran of World War II. He operates Veterans Enterprise and a filling station.

FROM A TRAP SHOOTING FAN

Many housewives in the Pass will be pleased to learn of a new method of inducing their husbands to help with the spring cleaning tasks (other than brute force).

There is little doubt, that in a majority of homes where the head of the house takes an active part in outdoor sports, there are to be found some ingenious little things about the house that would entail much work. It would be far simpler to have friend hubby get rid of them. To throw them away would be dangerous and wasteful.

Of course, there would be no point in shooting them aimlessly into the air either, as we have already welcomed in the New Year. Neither is it feasible to go in search of crows, magpies, hawks, etc., as they can detect gun powder at half a mile. However, do not let him become discouraged, as he still has an opportunity to dispose of the shells in such a manner that will be of benefit to him.

The clay pigeons are plentiful at Oliver's Dairy, Blairmore. There he can enjoy himself by indulging in the good, clean sport of trap shooting. It is possible that he may "bring home the butter" a all the cooks say nowadays. There are two competitions, afternoon, April 20 commencing at 2 o'clock. Each offer a good prize of one pound of butter.

Let event is open to any and all who can, or who would like to, pull the trigger of a shotgun.

2nd event is open to any and all who have never shot at any of the metals held last year.

The entry fee is 10c for each event. Th charge for clay pigeons is 50c for 25. If you have no shells a box is supplied at $1.40 per 25. There are guns available for those who have none of their own. A special 16 gauge lady's model is among them.

A trap club of the Crows Nest Pass will be formed.

It is hoped that the ladies of Coleman, Frank, Bellevue, Hillcrest and Blairmore will succeed in getting their husbands to help them with the spring cleaning.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cronk, of Blairmore visited with Mr. and Mrs. George Smith over the Easter week-end. Mrs. Cronk is a sister of Mrs. Smith.—Cranbrook Courier.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Jones returned on Monday from Spokane where they attended a family reunion at the home of the aged mother of the former. They report a most enjoyable time.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican church held their monthly meeting in the parish room of the church on Monday afternoon, April 14, arrangements were made to hold a tea and miscellaneous sale in the Masonic hall on Saturday afternoon, April 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Day and family of children moved to their new home in the Claresholm district on Monday of this week.

Mrs. Harvey Bouthillier has gone to Manitoulin Island to pay an extended visit with relatives at her childhood home.

On Tuesday morning, April 15, twenty-five swans were seen on a lake on Laddie Bort's place ten miles north of here. Judging from their deep voices, these were gumpster swans. The lake they were on is only a large wet-weather lake. Hundreds of wild ducks are often seen in this same stretch of water, but this is the first time swans were ever seen here.

A large congregation gathered at the United Church on Sunday morning when in the absence of the regular minister, Rev. Mr. W. H. Irwin, of Bellevue, song service was conducted by scripture reading and a sermon by Mr. Ernest Cooknell, taking as his subject the life and death of Jesus Christ, without which he emphasized the Scriptures never would have been written for the redemption of man.

The funeral of Glenn Bowerman, 50, who died in Blairmore on April 11, was held on Sunday, April 13, from the undertaking parlors to the Union cemetery where interment was made with Rev. McKelvey in charge. Mr. Bowerman came to this district as a child with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bowerman, from Oregon in 1902. He resided on a ranch here until a few years ago when he moved to Blairmore at which place he lived until death claimed him. He is predeceased by his parents and one brother Clifford and he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Earl Boehmer of Blairmore to mourn his loss.

International Harvester Announces New Line of "KB" Model Motor Trucks

International Harvester Company of Chicago, Limited has just announced a new line of motor trucks. "International Harvester is introducing new models now for two reasons," said Mr. Sartoris, of Sartoris Motors, "First, to provide operators with improved truck performance; and, second, to provide operators with better looking trucks. Even though new models are being introduced, production has not been slowed down. The old models are rolling off the line at International Harvester's Chatham Works, Chatham, Ontario, right alongside the new ones—without a single moment's assembly line stoppage. Trucks are too badly needed to stop production for a minute.

"This year," continued Mr. Sartoris, "has a special meaning for International Harvester, quite aside from the fact that they are building new models. This is Harvester's fortieth anniversary year as a truck manufacturer. Yes, forty years ago Harvester began production of the then impressive schedule of one hundred International Auto Wagons, high wheeled, low-powered vehicles designed, as was then said, to 'pull the farmer out of the mud'."

"Contrast between the first International and the new 40th anniversary models is marked, I assure you. But as antiquated as the 1907 International Harvester Auto Wagon is, it was the glimmer wagon of its day, and served Canadian business men and farmers both prettily and well.

Throughout, Harvester's new "KB" line of trucks, in addition to the new styling, are 95 features or mechanical improvements. All of these are contributory to improved performance, longer life and greater economy. International models, Harvester officials point out, are improvements, not just new models. New features and improvements are under constant study and constant test. As quickly as a new feature or improvement is proven its worth, it is incorporated into current production. That's the way the new International models are made. New features and improvements were steadily incorporated into current production "until the new models and improvements themselves, with some new styling, created the new models."

Mr. Sartoris also called attention to the fact that these new 21 basic models in the International truck line are "Western" models. The gross vehicle weight range of the new models ranges from 4,400 to 30,000 pounds. "Notice that I said 'basic models,'" said Mr. Sartoris. "I use the term 'basic models' because job adaptations and conversions of the 21 models produce more than 1,600 different transport units, all of which might be called models; it may be truthfully said that in the International line today there are more than 1,600 different models.

From the front, new International light-duty models display the distinctive grille, chrome radiator grille work over the fenders in grained chrome. Above the grille is the well-known International truck Triple Diamond emblem in a newly-styled setting. At the top of the hood is a new, striking ornament. At the sides of the hood the name "International" appears newly designed in chrome with the model number of the vehicle beneath. Styling of the heavy-duty models, while still in chrome, with that of the lighter units, shows the same modern trend.

On Friday evening, April 11, a large crowd of friends assembled in the Masonic hall to do honor to the newly weds, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKay (nee Doris Musgrave) who were united into holy bonds of matrimony in Pincher Creek on March 12, when a miscellaneous shower was given for the happy young couple. Entertainment took the form of cards, progressive whist being in order with honors being awarded to Mrs. Helen Swart and Mrs. Wilfred Welsh, ladies, while the guests went to John Musgrave and Paul Kosnett. R. H. Day acted as master of ceremonies. The presentation speech was made in humorous style by Wilfred Fortier which was fittingly responded to by the groom. Merry-making was concluded in a lively dance.

Prison Reform

PRISON REFORM IS A SUBJECT in which many people in Canada are deeply interested. Before the war, a Royal Commission investigated Canada's prison system and that of other countries, and had the war not come, it is probable that steps would have been taken long before this act upon some of the recommendations for improvements in Canada's penal system handed down by this Commission. During the war, lack of money, trained personnel and other essential factors made it impossible for action to be taken in this matter, but now that many of the obstacles have been removed, there are many people who are most anxious that the question of prison reform should again be given earnest consideration.

Noted Jurist Favors Reform

Mr. Justice J. C. McRuer, who is Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario and president of the Canadian Bar Association, was a member of the Royal Commission investigating Canada's prison system, and he is one of those who are in favor of changes in our present methods of dealing with criminals. In a recent public address on this subject, Chief Justice McRuer recommended the reorganization of the personnel in prisons, planned segregation of confirmed criminals, the development of a comprehensive adult probation system and an organized system of rehabilitation. He also suggested the creation of a department of government which would investigate the causes of crime, study ways and means of crime prevention, and provide the most modern and scientific means of prevention.

Has Aroused Wide Interest

There are many people who are of the same opinion as Chief Justice McRuer in regard to the need for reform in Canada's present penal system. The matter of dealing with first offenders and with juvenile delinquents is of the greatest importance, for under conditions as they are now, prison sentences for criminals of this class often mean that they come into contact with hardened criminals, and are themselves hardened, when they are in great need of intelligent correction. The question of rehabilitation of offenders upon their release from prison is also a most important factor in cutting down crime and increasing the social welfare of the country. It is probable that a great deal will be heard in Canada in regard to the need for prison reform in the near future, and it is a matter which deserves the consideration and interest of all responsible citizens.

Russians Welcome Winston Churchill

That crusty old warrior, Winston Churchill, who not long ago was called a "warrior" by Premier Stalin, stole the show at a Russian Embassy reception in London honoring 20 visiting members of the Supreme Soviet. When the former Prime Minister and Mrs. Churchill entered, the men from the land of the Red Star rushed forward and piled him with vigorous handshakes and rounds of vodka. Five hundred persons, including Prime Minister Attlee, were present as the Churchills made their way through the guests beneath a floodlit portrait of Stalin into the ambassador's private room.

The Churchills sat in big armchairs surrounded by a constantly changing circle of admirers or professed admirers. The vodka toasts were frequent.

Then when the Churchills decided to leave the guests formed an informal lane through which the former Prime Minister moved slowly shaking hands and saying goodbye.

A British official who watched commented: "One of the most impressive of all Anglo-Russian demonstrations in recent years."

NO ALLOWANCES FOR CHILDREN WHO SKIP SCHOOL

OTTAWA.—Children who skip school regularly don't get family allowances. Health Minister Martin disclosed in the Commons.

In a return tabled for L. O. Brithaupt (L—Waterloo), the minister said that arrangements have been made in each province for provincial school authorities to notify regional family allowance offices when the school attendance of a child became unsatisfactory.

On receipt of such information, the office suspended allowances until the child's attendance became satisfactory.

Cheerful News For Car Owners

According to the Detroit Free Press the Automobile Manufacturers Association furnishes a word of cheer for a gloomy old world.

It reports that the Society of Automotive Engineers has recommended standardization of heights of bumpers on all passenger cars and light trucks.

This means that in the not too distant future there will be no such thing as locked bumpers, or the dismal business of trying to disengage two cars joined in close embrace.

Warwick Castle To Peacetime Service

MONTREAL.—The 17,382-ton Warwick Castle, second Union Castle passenger liner to return to peacetime service, is enroute from Southampton on her first postwar sailing to South Africa. Cunard Donaldson Limited announces, "Cunard-Donaldson are general agents for the Union Castle Line in Canada."

Temporarily employed in the South African Mail Service which offers express passage from England to Cape Town and Durban, the Warwick Castle will revert to the Intermediate Service upon the completion of two new 28,000-ton mail vessels now under construction at Belfast.

The Intermediate Service has scheduled calls at Las Palmas, Tenerife, Ascension and other ports enroute to and from South Africa, and it was in this service that the liner, formerly the Pretoria Castle, sailed regularly before the war.

Completely restored to her prewar standards of comfort, the ship provided accommodations for 205 First Class and 353 Tourist Class passengers.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

PATIENCE

Patience is not passive: on the contrary it is active; it is concentrated strength.—Bulwer-Lytton.

There is as much difference between genuine patience and sullen endurance, as between the smile of love and the malicious gnashing of the teeth.—Plummer.

Patience does not mean indifference. We may work and wait, but we ought not to be idle or careless while waiting.—Gail Hamilton.

It is wise to be willing to wait on God, and to be wiser than serpents: to hate no man, to love one's enemies, and to square accounts with each passing hour.—Mary Baker Eddy.

It is not necessary for all men to be great in action. The greatest and sublimest power is often simple patience.—Horace Bushnell.

Do not think that nothing is happening because you do not see your self grow or hear the whirr of the machinery. All great things grow noiselessly.—Drummond.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

A ten-year-old boy rushed into the shop.

"Father's being chased by a boy," he cried.

"What can I do about it?" asked the shopkeeper.

"Put a new roll of film in my camera," said the boy.

Magistrate: "But why did you break into this draper's shop four nights running?"

Defendant: "I got a new dress for my wife and she made me go back and change it three times."

Wife: "Haven't the dresses in this window a splendid finish, dear Jones?"

Jones (glumly): "Nothing wrong with the finish. It's the starting-price that gets me!"

The rejected suitor was making his final plea.

"What," he said, "has this fellow got that I haven't?"

"And the girl answered 'Me'."

Clerk: "These are especially strong shirts, Madam. They simply laugh at the laundry."

Customer: "I know that kind. I had some which came back with their sides split."

Once again the youthful evacuee had been caught using strong language.

"Do you know, Tommy," said the harassed foster-mother sadly, "every time I hear you swearing I get cold shivers down my back."

"Coo!" exclaimed Tommy. "If you heard father you'd have froze to death!"

The manager heard that the 66-week clerk had a car, and asked him how he could afford it, with four children.

"Oh, that's easy," said the clerk. "There are 500 of us employed at this factory. I raffle my wages every week at a shilling a go."

"Won't you give me your telephone number?" he murmured.

"It's in the book," she said. "Splendid," he sighed. "And what's your name?"

"That's in the book, too," she snapped.

"By jove, old boy, I couldn't believe it when I heard you were in hospital. Why did I think I saw you dancing with a pretty blonde?"

"Yes, so what of my wife?"

Smith: "I wear the trousers in my home."

Fried: "Yeah, but right after supper I notice you wear an apron over them."

"What did the calf say to the alo?"

"I don't know."

"Is my fodder in there?"

"I adore dark men."

"You'd have a splendid time in Africa."

HOLSTEIN CATTLE SHIPPED TO CHINA

QUEBEC.—Canadian Holstein cattle breeders have sold 130 male animals, aged one year to 18 months, to the Chinese government, according to an announcement by the provincial agriculture ministry.

Thirteen of the bulls, whose progeny all are qualified sires, or dams with individual milk production of more than 500 pounds of butter fat a year, are destined to stock Madame Chiang Kai-Shek's herds.

SLOW CONSCIENCE

In Fredonia, Kans., an ex-school-ward sent the country school superintendent a check for $75 (full repayment of the three-month salary she had once drawn) along with a conscience-smitten confession that she had cribbed on her teacher's examination to get the job, 53 years ago.

High-quality starch has been extracted successfully from sweet potatoes.

FILMS DEPICTING WILDLIFE OF CANADA'S NATIONAL PARKS BEING TELEVIEWED

A new development in visual education dealing with wildlife in Canada's national parks took place in Washington, D.C., recently when films showing beaver in Prince Albert National Park, Saskatchewan, were televiewed from the United States Capital. Some of the beaver shown were "Little Brothers" of the late Grey Owl who occupied a cabin on the shores of Ajawwan Lake in the park. The films depict beaver building dams and houses, and storing food for the winter.

Television opened up an important field in the realm of wildlife education. The family life and habits of wild creatures in their native habitat, always make fascinating reading. But to actually see a beaver at work, a bear playing with her cubs, or an ungainly moose browsing in the willows, adds immensely to the interest of the story.

Children, and grown-ups too, who have not yet had an opportunity to visit Canada's national parks may derive a keener appreciation of the word "sanctuary" when they observe wild creatures behaving in a natural manner before the camera, little perturbed by the presence of humans. They also get a better understanding of conservation practices which are part of the national parks idea and purpose.

Most people are intrigued by the sight of creatures of the wild living in natural surroundings. Canada's great outdoor museums of wildlife will continue to rank among her chief tourist attractions, and any new development that will make them better known in the United States is of special interest to Canadians.

The televising of films depicting wildlife in Canada's national parks will also further emphasize the fact that the only kind of "shooting" permitted in these areas is with the camera.

Parachute Jumper Makes Air Rescue

FAIRBANKS, Alaska.—One parachute jumper saved the life of another during a task force frigid paratroop jump by snatching his collapsed chute and holding on until both reached the earth safely, the Army disclosed.

Cpl. Charles Harris was the man rescued and Pte. Raymond Kenyon the rescuer. Harris' chute collapsed after a crosswind blew the two men together about 100 feet above the ground.

Collars Too Tight Causes Chronic Pain

MEDFORD, Ore.—Ingemund Stenerson, local lumberman, was relieved of chronic pain in his neck after a week of examinations that chronic pains in his neck were the fault of his handkerchiefs.

Their diagnosis said his shirt collar was too tight.

Chifton, denoting a sheer soft fabric, comes from the French "chiffon," meaning a piece of old and worthless rag.

Add to yeast mixture. Add 3 c. sifted flour and beat until perfectly smooth. Add 4 tsb. melted shortening and 3 c. more sifted flour, or enough to make easily handled dough. Knead well. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Punch dough down in bowl and let rise again in warm place until nearly doubled in bulk, about 40 min. When light, roll out into rectangular sheet 3/4" thick. Brush with melted butter or shortening; cut into strips 1 1/2" wide. Pile 7 strips together, cut into piece 1 1/2" wide. Place inside up in greased muffin pans. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until light, about 1 hour. Bake in 400°F. oven for 20 minutes.

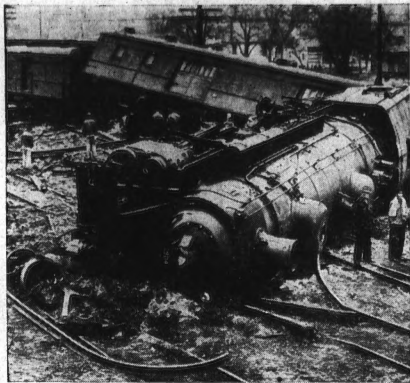

You can do it, too—and keep your budget smiling. Here's the recipe: take Alabastine, mix with water, brush on over your old walls and ceilings. There's no trick to it. Alabastine dries quickly, without odor, and won't rub off. Comes in ivory, cream, buff, light blue, pink, light blue, grey, light green and white.

BILL NO. 23

(By H. G. L. Strang)

I venture to forecast that Bill No. 23 will be pointed out by the historian of the future as the first definite step of the socialization of Canadian industries. Nothing like it has ever been seen before in the history of Canada. The Bill controls the production, usage, transportation and marketing, and the setting of prices of wheat, by the government of Canada.

A price of $1.25 is irrevocably set until 1950. Not a single step in the production or handling or the marketing of wheat can be taken without authorization of the Government's Wheat Board, which board is no longer, as it has been in the past, the agent of our farmers, but is now responsible only to the Government itself.

The Act provides severe penalties for farmers and others for any infraction of the many rules and regulations that may be set out by the Board. Any Police Officer has the right to lift a farmer's permit book and hold it for fifteen days, and if the farmer should be convicted of an offence, then he may be fined up to $300.00 with imprisonment for three months, or he may be deprived of the use of his permit book, hence the right to deliver grain, for one year.

FISHWIVES OF EDINBURGH

It is to be feared that the passenger of the transients, which run from the fishing port of Newhaven on the Firth of Forth to downtown Edinburgh, are in for a somewhat malodorous journey. Traditional "fishwives", their baskets laden with their morning purchases at the fish-market, board the tram to seek sale for their product among the housewives of the Scottish capital. Fortunately the fish are strictly fresh, and no doubt that purchaser will be well satisfied with their investment.

These Newhaven fishwives are proof of the fact that in Britain, customs of the past die hard. For with the coming of rapid transit and modern marketing methods it was predicted a generation ago that the Newhaven fishwife would soon disappear. And indeed, much the larger portion of the Newhaven catch goes to markets, near and far, by faster means. But some of the fishwives, in fact, are not unlike those of generations ago, still ply their trade in the picturesque and historic city.

Newhaven has been a fishing town for centuries, and long was a particularly isolated community. It used to be said that every citizen of Newhaven was related to every other citizen by marriage at least. Today the town is a part of greater Edinburgh, the nearby port of Leith. A vast covered fishmarket is still, however, the centre of Newhaven's commercial life. Newhaven, as well as exporting its fish, is famed even today for the excellent fish dinners served at its restaurants.

Don Graham Comments on EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

My neighbor John Williams was talking the other day about how important our export trade is to us.

"You know, Don," he said, "a lot of Canadians don't realize what it means to have world markets for our grain and hogs. But history shows now that not even the strongest countries can get along without selling to others."

Well, I agreed with John all right, but I reminded him it isn't only a matter of produce like grain and hogs. Especially to us, the things called "invisible" exports like the tourist trade and life insurance are vital too.

Did you know that about 40 per cent of all the life insurance with Canadian companies has been sold to people outside Canada—in 64 other countries? No other country "exports" that much life insurance. Our companies must be pretty famous for their efficiency and their safety.

Life insurance is a business built for everybody, a great enterprise which protects the lives of more than four million policyholders and their loved ones. Life insurance offers a systematic and easy way to save. Consult an authorized agent about a plan best suited to your requirements.

EXOTIC BIRDS

The parakeet, small in size, has a bright green body with a pink circle around its neck. Its voice is agreeable and it may be trained to speak distinctly. In their native environment, parakeets go about in pairs.

The lovebirds is an especially small parrot found in Africa. The affection shown one another accounts for their name. The only species found in the United States is the Carolina parakeet, a bird about thirteen inches long. Its plumage is green and it is topped with a yellow head.

Parrots bred in hollow trees. They have been known to reach the age of seventy and even ninety years.

All are characterized by the large curved upper beak and by the position of the toes, two pointing forward, two backward. They are good climbers, using their long tails to assist in keeping their balance. They are clumsy at walking but strong when on the wing.

Nature has a way of making compensations, for the most beautifully colored bird has the harshest voice, whereas the parrot of duldest colors is usually the sweetest songbird.

It is frightful to go into the parrot house of a zoo. All who are not trading gossip with neighbors are screaming indignantly.

HIDDEN HUNGER

Hidden hunger, or malnourishment due to unbalanced diet, is all too common in Canada, declare national nutritionists. They claim that two thirds of the children studied in a recent survey were found to be on border-line diets, which were short on from one to three of the important food groups.

In addition to "hidden hunger" the experts discussed "hollow hunger", such as is found in the empty stomachs of Europe, and "hum drum hunger", due to unvaried and monotonous diets and, psychological malnourishment, being experienced by many in England.

Appetite Is Not A Reliable Guide

Instinct is not a safe guide to good nutrition. Scientists now declare that appetite, once believed a reliable guide to what we should eat, is unreliable because of the peculiarities of individual food habits, the variety of foods available and the removal of nutrients in processing, handling and preparation of foods.

The only safe diet is that based on proven rules of nutrition, they say, and Canadians are urged to study what is good for them to eat and abide by these rules.

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

MENTAL STRAIN CAN CAUSE ARTERY ILLS

Excessive mental work is more likely than hard physical labor to cause arteriosclerosis—hardening of the arteries—and more men than women suffer from that malady.

A well-established condition of arteriosclerosis is made apparently by the rigid and tortuous condition of the arteries which, to the touch, feel like a string of beads. The earlier symptoms are less definite and often are so slight as to pass unnoticed. These symptoms arise from a diminished blood supply, resulting from the thickened condition of the arteries which reduces their inner capacity. Naturally, symptoms vary according to parts of the body which are being deprived of a normal blood supply.

Thus, if the arteries supplying the brain are affected, there will be increasing loss of memory, inability to sleep properly, defectiveness of judgment, irritability and despondency. In the aged, sufferers are restless, even delirious, during the night. During the day they are drowsy.

Arteriosclerosis affecting the heart produces notable changes in the condition and functioning of that organ. The change is likely to be shown first by a shortness of breath. The attacks come on suddenly at night. Sometimes the patient is afraid to go to sleep. At others the attacks resemble bronchial asthma. In cases where the muscle of the heart is much affected, or there is a coronary defect, there is likely distress in front of the heart. Angina pectoris may develop with disease of the coronary arteries. Usually there may be thrombosis—plugging of the vessels by a clot of blood.

HEADS COUNCIL—Elected president of the council of the French republic is Gaeton Monnerville, (above), former representative for French Gaiens and vice-president of the Socialist party in France. Monnerville was decorated by Gen. DeGaulle for the prominent part he played in the war as a member of the French underground.

Hereditarily appears to be a factor. In this disease, while typhoid fever and rheumatism have long been thought to produce changes in the arteries. Scarlet fever, diphtheria and influenza also are blamed. Infected teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder, prostate and appendix probably are exciting causes. However, diagnosis is readily made by a physician, and treatment should be directed by him.

British Children Must Go To School Till 15

LONDON—A law requiring British children to attend school until they are 15 years old, instead of 14, became effective recently.

The Ministry of Education estimated that about 130,000 children, who ordinarily would be permitted to leave school, would return to their classrooms when the fall term opens. Government leaders insisted on raising the school age despite the serious manpower shortage. They termed the step an "investment in the nation's future." Approximately 390,000 children will reach the age of 14 this year, according to the Education Ministry.

Easy Method Of Growing Grass

To those who want to grow grass, instead of mowing it, there is reported a device which is alleged to be easy. This consists of strips of papers containing seed and fertilizer imbedded within the strips. These strips are stretched on the ground, covered with a little soil and soaked with water. The paper dissolves into the earth taking the seed and fertilizer with it, and it is claimed, grass appears in four or five days. A method of easy grass growing has been sought for centuries. If this one works, then the gardener's millennium is at hand.—Brandon Sun.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

MA FERGUSON'S CACHE

By MAUDE NORMAN

MA FERGUSON hurried in from the kitchen at the first sound of the phone. She felt guilty every time she thought of the extra expense it entailed, but she knew Ralph felt better knowing she had it and she had been glad many times he had insisted on having it put in before he went overseas. She did not feel so alone and cut off from everyone.

An excited voice came over the wire as she put the receiver to her ear.

"Hello, Ma Ferguson, this is Bill Paige. Now, don't get frightened, but be sure and look all your doors and windows. Two of the prisoners have escaped from the penitentiary and the police think they are headed this way. Don't answer the door if anyone comes until you find out who it is. One of the boys from the village is coming to stay with you until they're caught."

Ma sniffed as she hung up the receiver. "One of the boys, indeed," she said scornfully. "We don't need any one, do we, Jefferson? They'd only be tracking all over my clean floor, running outside everywhere they heard a noise. No one is going to bother us, but I guess I'd better lock the door."

The obese bulldog, Jefferson, blinked his eyes, then clambered to his feet, growling.

"Land's sake, Jefferson, now don't you start making a fuss..." Her breath caught in her throat as a man appeared in the doorway, a tall man with a black grey face. Behind him stood another man. Ma shuddered as she looked at his eyes. They reminded her of the eyes of a mad she had watched one day when she was working in her garden, unblinking and expressionless. She sank wearily into a chair as they came into the room.

Jefferson's hoarse growls filled the room as he crouched to spring. The second man advanced toward him, seizing the heavy iron poker as he passed the stove.

Ma seized the dog around the neck and held him tightly.

"Don't you dare hurt him," she cried, "he's only trying to protect me." You, she turned to the first man. "You're the escaped prisoners, aren't you? What do you want here? I have nothing for you."

"We want money and clothes," snarled the give-away man, "and if you don't shut that dog up I'll bash his head in."

"Shut up, Shorty," ordered the other, "us in being rough with the old lady. Give us some money and clothes, man, and we'll go without hurting you."

"I have no money," Ma faltered, "I am really quite poor. I do a little sewing to buy enough to eat, but that is all the income I have."

The black-faced man shrugged. "I hate to contradict a lady, but we were told you had a son overseas and he sent you money to save for him, and you also have your allotment check, so don't give us that story."

"How do you know so much about my business," she stared.

The cold smile did not reach his eyes. "I hope you don't think we walked out of that place without any plan, do you? We had friends in your little burg who found out all these things for us. But we are waiting time. Where is your money? And with a black grey face. Behind him stood another man. Ma shuddered as she looked at his eyes. They reminded her of the eyes of a mad she had watched one day when she was working in her garden, unblinking and expressionless. She sank wearily into a chair as they came into the room.

The man tossed the box in her lap. She gave the dog a biscuit, then sat holding it, silently watching the two men as they went into Ralph's room. She cried out when they came out, both dressed in his clothes. She whispered:

"Those are my son's," she whispered.

"They're not quite as conspicuous as the suits we were wearing," grinned the black-eyed one. "Where is your money?"

"I tell you, I have no money," Ma cried desperately. "What was I to do at that point in the cupboard. Take that, and go."

"Aw, quit stalling around," growled Shorty. "We've wasted too much time with you already. If I twist your arm a few times you'll be glad to tell us."

An exclamation of delight interrupted him. The other man held up an old silk package he had found in the bottom drawer of an old chest standing in the corner.

"Here it is," he cried, "Look at those knots. Come on, we'll open it when we get away from here. We haven't time now."

Ma waited until the sound of their footsteps had died away, then she slipped to the door and locked it. Coming back to her chair, she carefully removed the dog biscuits from the box, revealing a layer of crisp green hills.

"I'd have just died," she confided to the dog, "if they had found the money Ralph has been sending home. As soon as someone comes from the village I'm going back with them so I can put this in the bank." Then she started to chuckle. "Wish I could be around when those fellows open that package and find that Confederate money of Grandfather's I've been saving all these years."

Floating Weather Stations Planned

Safer travel for airlines traversing North Atlantic and Scandinavian routes will result from establishment of 13 floating weather stations which will operate in the Atlantic after July 1.

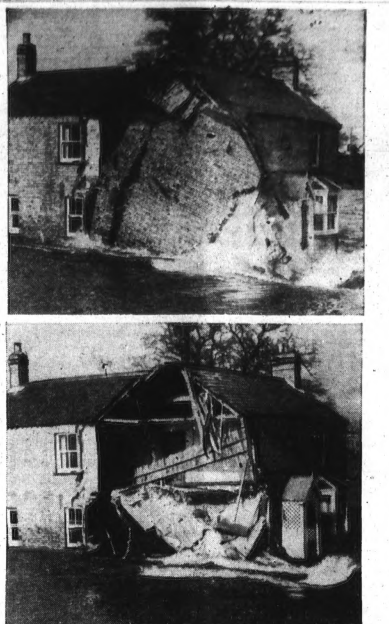

These stations will collect information about weather tendencies and wind velocities to be made available to all countries.

The United States will provide eight of the floating stations, Britain two—sharing maintenance of a third with Norway and Sweden—France one, and Holland and Belgium one between them. Provision of these vessels was laid down in the international agreement drawn up by the provisional international civil air organization which was signed last September.

Four Royal Navy corvettes which conveyed merchant ships across the Atlantic with lend-lease cargoes during the war are being converted for use with this weather station fleet.

CAMPAIGN PAID

It is estimated that the United States would be producing 10,000,000 fewer pounds of beef a year had it not been for a bovine tuberculosis campaign started 25 years ago.

ENGLISH HOME COLLAPSES—Damage caused by record English floods is placed at $50,000,000 as the waters slowly recede after inundating entire communities and destroying livestock and crops. Weakened by the raging flood waters, the wall of this house near Pen Beach, at Southey, Norfolk, collapses into torrent. Four hours later only one corner of the building remained.

GARDEN NOTES

Try Something New

Most of us are too conservative in our gardening. For generations we have been growing the same limited variety of vegetables—beans, carrots, peas, lettuce and potatoes.

This is a great mistake as scores of vegetables can be grown to perfection anywhere in Canada, and in addition there are usually several different varieties of each. In addition to the standard kinds noted there are many others that should be included such as head lettuce, brussels sprouts, celery, chinese cabbage, some of the stalk sweet corn, as well as the bantam, soy beans, peppers, musk and watermelons, broccoli, endive, cress, parsley, spinach, Swiss chard, turnips, parsnips, onions, broad beans, kohlrabi, red cabbage, etc.

There has also been a vast improvement in standard sorts. Some of the old standbys of ten years ago are completely over-shadowed by earlier, smoother or harder sorts. By choosing carefully from a good Canadian seed catalogue one can create a vegetable garden that will not only have much more variety than was possible a generation ago, but one that will yield higher quality and over a much longer period.

A Kitchen Garden

It is a good plan to have the smaller vegetables growing in a plot right near the kitchen door. Here they will be handy, especially when one wants to get a few onions or lettuce in a hurry, and it is amazing how much produce one can grow in such a space.

As a matter of fact, for the average smaller gardener it is best to grow all the beans, lettuce, radish, carrots, etc., in rows close together in a kitchen garden of this kind than in longer rows out in the main garden. The latter, of course, is used for big, bulky crops like corn, potatoes and peas and possibly the main crops of beans, but the heavily planted, often cultivated kitchen plot near the house is an ideal location for the other stuff. Located close to the house one can often spend old minutes in cultivating and weeding when it would not be practical to make a trip out into the big garden. When- ever possible this kitchen garden should be located where it can be watered in very dry weather.

Transplanting

Watering is one of the secrets to successful transplanting. Boxes of seedling plants and nursery stock should be kept moist and when contents are set out, water should be added. Romanesco, vines and trees should be watered thoroughly in dryish weather, soaking the ground at least once a week until growth is well started. To conserve moisture cultivated ornamental trees 3 feet all around until mid-summer.

AMELIA EARHART'S MOTHER

MEDFORD, Mass.—The 80-year-old mother of Amelia Earhart came home, nearly 10 years after she had left to aid in a search for the famed aviatrix who vanished on a projected flight around the world.

Mrs. Amy Earhart arrived by plane from San Francisco and told reporters: "I'm tired."

Amelia disappeared in 1937 while flying over the Pacific. Where she became lost, and how, is not known.

The Gospels were first written in Greek.

CHOCOLATE CUSTARD BREAD PUDDING

1½ squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate
2½ cups milk
2 eggs
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups cubed stale bread

Add chocolate to milk and heat in double boiler. When chocolate is melted, stir until blended. Beat eggs until foamy; add sugar and salt. Then add chocolate mixture gradually, stirring vigorously. Add vanilla. Place bread in greased baking dish; pour mixture over it and let stand 10 minutes. Mix well before baking. Place dish in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 50 minutes, or until pudding is firm. Serve warm or cold with cream. Serves 6.

FOAMY EGG SAUCE

Combine in top of double boiler: 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons (1½ cups) sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Mix well.

Add ¼ cup boiling water gradually, stirring constantly. Stir and boil gently until clear.

Beat 1 egg until light and foamy. Add small amount of hot mixture, stirring well. Return to double boiler and cook and stir over simmering water 3 to 5 minutes longer.

GOOD FARMERS

Although their soil has been tilted without let-up for 4,000 years, peasants in Italy's Po valley regularly harvest 60 bushels of wheat to the acre, thanks to rotation and other good agricultural practices.

$5.00 A Bushel For Flax Seed

An increase of $1.75 a bushel in the price of flax has been announced by the Federal Government, bringing the total to $5.00 a bushel and making flax one of the best potential money producing crops on the Prairies.

The price increase would appear to have come just in time to influence many farmers in their decision as to spring plantings, and indications are that the flax crop this year will be considerably larger than the one which brought close to $25,000,000 to Prairie farmers in 1946. Last year's flax crop was in the vicinity of 7½ million bushels. The market can absorb much more.

National Health authorities warn: "Many medicines where children cannot reach them! Chocolate-coloured and sugar-coated pills and tablets attract the little ones because they look like 'goodies.' #### A CHINESE TYPEWRITER

A practical working Chinese typewriter has been developed. The machine will write 5,400 characters, and can be adjusted to type horizontal lines from left to right, or to type vertical columns, according to the ancient Chinese manner.

The 5,400 characters include English letters and numerals. They are stamped on a revolving cylinder in a machine a little more than twice the size of a standard typewriter. The characters are printed electrically through two keyboards containing forty-three keys in all.

GOOD FISHING

A fish story from British Columbia is worth remembering. In one day, seven men in a fishing boat caught seven tons of pilchards. This represents about 3,180,000 fish. The huge catch was too great for the fishing boat and before the fishermen could empty the net they had to summon help by means of wireless. It took just thirty-eight hours to empty. Evidently the Atlantic fisheries are by no means the most valuable Canada possesses. The Pacific will contribute its full share to our fishing revenues.
